1983

THE COLLEGE PREPARATORY SCHOOL

YEARBOOK

TRANSITION . . .

Old

New

This year was a year of change. We, as a school, had to move from our old established school to a new and different campus. The 1983 Entropy commemorates this change.

To the Class of 1983

Congratulations to the Class of 1983! I will remember you as the class that led the change! I will also remember you for your warmth, enthusiasm, and leadership, of which you have shown an abundance.

What kind of message is appropriate as you move into a world full of promise yet with the constant tension of conflict and potential for disaster? Would that it were as simple as "seize the promise, resolve the conflict, avert the disaster!" Do these things, of course; but on a deeper level dare to commit yourself to those things you believe to be good no matter how alone such commitment places you. "Good" things are eternal and belief in them will serve you well through the years. The British philosopher Bertrand Russell once observed, "... If human life is not to become dusty and uninteresting, it is important to realize that there are things that have a value which is quite independent of utility." You can bet on it. Godspeed.

Listen now my friends
For time shall pass us by
And we will see the end
Before we've wondered why
The life before us now
Flows by in winged fear
Before we've realized how
To laugh and shed some tear
For if we open mine
And watch the birds in flight
We may look and find
A bird in all his might
Who tells a story dear
Of sorrow, joy, and fear
Just look and listen near
And you will see and hear

Fabrice Boulé

Yes, that's me, Fabrice, the AFS student at CPS for this school year 82-83. I come from Switzerland, you know, the small country in Europe with a lot of cows every where among the chocolate trees and the cheese mountains. But I am not in chocolate and I have not been afraid of the California sun and on the contrary, I was really happy when I learned I would spend my year in this State. I was even happier when I learned that I was to be in the San Francisco Bay Area.

AFS

I got the opportunity to spend such a year over here with AFS, an organization I only discovered recently, because it is much more active in the United States than in Switzerland. It is really a good point everyone has to support this way of permitting young people from all over the world to live in such an interesting and humanly deep experience. In other words, and briefly, an organization like this one must be expanded further.

MY AMERICAN FAMILY

I have the luck to live with the Olson family, a numerous one with five children (four brothers and a sister) and I go to school with John my AFS host brother who is a Junior at College Prep. I really enjoy getting used to a new style of life, as well as a new school system. A constructive comparison between both swiss and american could allow me to take the best things from each and have an intelligent conception of the difference between two fundamentally different mentalities, though culture and political systems are relatively similar.

Conscious of the fantastic experience I'm living, I want to thank everyone who collaborated in making possible my stay here.

He was part of my dream,
of course - but then, I
was part of his dream,

The basic things we ought to know about human behavior

1. Everyone had "an unhappy childhood."
2. No two children are ever born into the same family (The first child has no siblings, the second has one, the third has two . . . The parents of a second child are different from what they were with their first.)
3. No one ever does anything for only one reason
4. Most people never mature; they just grow taller
5. Everyone, in some small, sacred sanctuary of the self, is nuts.
6. Imagination, not conscience, makes cowards of us all.
7. It is impossible to name anything, however wonderful, which won't depress some people. It is impossible to name anything, however horrible, which won't elate other people.
8. Some people will do anything for money; more will do anything for nothing. Kicks (and delusions) are more influential than lucre
9. No tyranny is more subtle, infuriating, and invincible than a tyranny of neurotics. Their suffering is a weapon, no less than a symptom.
10. Beware of people without a sense of humor. Its absence shows a lack of proportion, uneasy self-respect, and a fear of those secure enough to be tolerant of vices other than their own

SONNET 29

When, in disgrace with Fortune and men's eyes,
I all alone beweep my outcast state,
And trouble deaf heaven with my bootless cries,
And look upon myself and curse my fate,
Wishing me like to one more rich in hope,
Featured like him, like him with friends possessed,
Desiring this man's art, and that man's scope,
With what I most enjoy contented least;
Yet in these thoughts myself almost despising,
Haply I think on thee, and then my state,
Like to the lark at break of day arising
From sullen earth, sings hymns at heaven's gate;
For they sweet love remeb'red such wealth brings
That then I scorn to change my state with kings

AN DIE MUSIK

Du holde Kunst, in wie viel grauen Stunden
Wo much des Lebens wilder Kreis umstrickt,
Has du mein Herz zu warmer Lieb entzunden,
Hast mich in eine bessre Welt entrückt!
Oft hat ein Seufzer, deiner Hart entflossen,
Ein süßer heiliger Akkord von dir
Den Himmel Bessre Zeiten mir erschlossen,
Du holde Kunst, ich danke dir dafür,
Du holde Kunst, ich danke dir!

SOME 'MOVING' QUOTES

"Oh no, more lockers."

"Assume that all door jams have wet paint."

"You mean this table actually goes here!"

"This calls for a celebration."

"Yea, another round of movie night popcorn for all."

"Lift with your legs."

"Who's got the other corner?"

"If you turn it this way before ..."

"Hey, all the locker doors are opening!"

"We have 3 vehicles stacked up: our U-haul, the landscaper, some guy in a car, and here comes the Jartran." "Ah ... Lunchtime!"

"Hey Bosky, where does this go?"

"What is it?"

"I don't know."

"A-1 ... BUT not against the wall."

"Take these chairs to M-1. By the way, where are these chairs coming from?"

"M-1."

"L-2 is already wall-to-wall chairs."

"Is it floor-to-ceiling?"

"No."

"Then, start a second level."

"The shingles really look nice."
